

BELLARINE CATCHMENT NETWORK

Bellarine Catchment Network (BCN) is an independent, non-for-profit organisation who is managed by a volunteer committee of management. We partner with friends of groups, community organisations, land managers and councils to manage catchments, coastal areas and inland bush land. We facilitate and manage various projects through the region in addition to providing support to other groups activities.

Our vision is to work towards a healthy, well connected and resilient wetlands, waterways and native vegetation ecosystems; sustainable agricultural and land management practices; and a community that is engaged and involved in protecting and managing the natural environment.

30 groups, community organisations, groups and land managers

3,000 indigenous species planted annually

30 school environment/education days each year

We work to minimise waste at events, festivals and our workplace

Website: www.environmentbellarine.org.au

Email: info@environmentbellarine.org.au

Facebook: @bellarinecatchmentnetwork

Instagram: @Bellarine Catchment Network

